

March 20, 2011

International Anti-Street-Harassment Day

What could be more basic than the simple human right to walk down the street without abuse?

Street harassment is a worldwide human rights issue:
Women don't feel free or safe in public places.

The constant barrage of harassment creates anger and fear – and it teaches girls that just being female means you'll be targeted for abuse.

Hooting, hollering, sexual comments, kissy-sucky noises, leering, groping, grabbing, molesting:
It's not friendly – it's crude, it's creepy, and we don't like it.

STOP DISSING WOMEN.
WE DON'T LIKE IT– NO ONE LIKES IT.
SHOW SOME RESPECT ON THE STREET.

www.stopstreetharassment.com